Use in High-Safety Applications

This product has been designed and manufactured on the assumption that it will be used in office, personal, domestic, regular industrial, and general-purpose applications. It has not been designed and manufactured for use in applications (simply called "high-safety applications" from here on) that directly involve danger to life and health when a high degree of safety is required, for example, in the control of nuclear reactions at nuclear power facilities, automatic flight control of aircraft, air traffic control, operation control in mass-transport systems, medical equipment for sustaining life, and missile firing control in weapons systems, and when provisionally the safety in question is not ensured. The user should use this product with adopting measures for ensuring safety in such high-safety applications. PFU LIMITED assumes no liability whatsoever for damages arising from use of this product by the user in high-safety applications, and for any claims or compensation for damages by the user or a third party.

1. Cautions during Installation

* For details about supported operating systems, refer to "System Requirements" in the Operator's Guide or the Basic Operation Guide of your ScanSnap model.

Note:

- Windows 7 SP1 and later are supported.
- Windows Vista SP2 and later are supported.
- ScanSnap Receipt does not support Windows XP or earlier versions.
- ScanSnap Receipt does not support some Windows functions such as Switch User and Remote Desktop operation.

* Do not install this software in the root directory. ScanSnap Receipt may not function properly. Install ScanSnap Receipt in the appropriate directory.

* The path name for the installation directory will automatically be generated in DOS short form if it exceeds 121 characters. When installing ScanSnap Receipt, limit the path name for the installation directory to 121 characters or less.

* Be sure to log on as a user with Administrator privileges to install the program.

* Do not use the following characters in the name of the installation directory. ScanSnap Receipt may not function properly if these characters are used.
/ ; , . * ? " < > | # %

* If the User Account Control dialog box appears, allow the installation to proceed.
